Background Information on the Corporation for National and Community Service

The Corporation for National and Community Service is a federal government corporation. In partnership with state and local governments and non-profit organizations, we administer the AmeriCorps service program, which includes national and state grant programs, VISTA and the National Civilian Community Corps, the National Senior Service Corps (Foster Grandparents, Senior Companions and the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program) and Service-Learning.

The Office of Inspector General is an independent organization whose mission is to find and report on current problems and to foster good program management to prevent future problems. OIG's statutory mission is to:

- Conduct and supervise audits and investigations relating to the Corporation's programs and operations;
- Review existing and proposed legislation and regulations relating to the Corporation's programs and operations;
- Provides leadership for activities designed to promote economy, effectiveness, and efficiency and fight fraud, waste and abuse in the Corporation's programs;
- Inform the CEO and the Congress of problems in the Corporation or its programs.

Description of Work

The incumbent serves as an auditor, responsible for conducting audits and reviews of all facets of Corporation programs and operations and the management and administration thereof. He/she will plan and conduct complex audits of the Corporation management, financial, and grant operations; conduct program effectiveness reviews; examine records, methods of operation and management controls; interview managers, employees, grantees, sponsors, volunteers, and others as appropriate to determine compliance with applicable regulations, efficient and economic resource utilization, policy implementation and/or achievement of program results; gather, assemble, consolidate and analyze data; present findings and observations to senior management officials; prepare audit reports; perform reviews of A-133 Single Audit Act audits; and serve as either a leader or member of audit teams. General supervision is provided based on priorities, resources available, and controversial issues. The incumbent is responsible for independently planning, conducting, and coordinating work, having a substantial and continuing responsibility for activities within assigned areas. Complexity of audits increases and supervision decreases as the employee gains expertise.
